ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are authorized to announce N. J. HARRIS, of Mathews county, a candidate for the office of State Senator in this, the 8th Senatorial District, composed of the counties of Ohio, Muhlenberg and Butler, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

We are authorized to announce JUDGE THOS. C. CARSON, of Butler county, a candidate for State Senator in this, the Eighth Senatorial District, composed of the counties of Butler, Muhlenberg and Ohio, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

—Mud, muddler, muddier?
—To which do you have reference?
—Yesterday was Washington's birthday.

—Gent's late style collars at Anderson's Bazaar.

—Take your produce to the Red Front and get the highest prices.

—Coverlets, quilts, table linens and towels in great bargains at Anderson's Bazaar.

—Try the "Bonanza Coffee" at the Red Front. Nothing like it in Hartford.

—Parties wanting safe Life Insurance should call on Mr. H. B. Kinsolving, Hartford, Ky.

—If you want a good drink morning, night or noon, you can get it, we think, at Lou Hill's saloon.

—Mr. Cawthon, one of our mechanics, moved Monday from Mr. Patton's to a room in the old frame hotel.

—A Sewing Machine for sale, good as new, at a bargain. Call at once on J. P. Barrett, HERALD office, 7-7-7.

—Last week's HERALD contained a typographical error in the notice of the death of Mrs. R. H. Jones. Her remains were interred on Sunday evening and not Saturday, as we had it.

—Lou Hill's saloon is now the toniest place of the kind in town. He keeps none but the best brands of wines and liquors, keeps his saloon clean, neat and nice and allows no boisterous conduct therein.

—We believe in woman's rights and think that women ought to be sustained and encouraged in all laudable efforts to earn an honest, comfortable living. That's why we buy our groceries of Mrs. Lucy Edson.

—Died.—In Hartford, Ky., Sunday night, February 20, 1881, at 10 o'clock, little Taylor Griffin, infant son of D. Ellis and Annie Thomas, aged 11 days. The funeral took place on Monday evening at 4 o'clock.

—We met our old friend, Chas. W. Hussey, in town Monday and learned from him that he had moved back to Buford. We regretted to see him in such bad health and hope he will experience a speedy recovery.

—Mrs. Lucy Edson, successor to Griffin Bros., has a full supply of staple and fancy groceries. You will find this establishment just under the HALL office, where Messrs. Wm. H. and P. White Edson are in readiness to supply your wants. Give this house a trial when you wish anything in the grocery line.

—The "Handy Corner" is being re-painted, newly-papered, remodeled and fitted up in elegant style, and will be occupied by Mr. Z. A. Rosenberg some time this week. Mr. Rosenberg will fill up the establishment with a large stock of dry goods, notions, boots, shoes and clothing. He is well known here and is quite a popular merchant.

—The musical concert at Court Hall last Friday night was quite a pleasant affair. The occasion was that of a benefit given by the citizens of the town to Prof. Ludwig, leader of the Hartford Cornet Band. Although it rained without ceasing, yet a goodly number of the music-loving citizens of the town were in attendance. The programme embraced overtures, duets, solos, quick-steps, which were well rendered.

—Mr. H. F. Mustain, of Horse Cave, is doing a land office business here in the spoke trade. He came here only a short time ago, but by indomitable energy he has already got out oceans of spokes, regardless of ice and snow, and now has a large number of men at work—the number increasing daily. He has created a demand for a timber that heretofore has been almost worthless, and has given employment to a large number of idle men at remunerative wages.

—On the first page of this issue is an article from Rev. W. P. Bennett in reply to our answer to his attack on us recently in regard to a local notice of the result of his recent protracted meeting here. Now, as we have no desire to engage in a newspaper controversy, especially with a minister, for Bro. Bennett's sake, we will say that the meeting referred to was quite a success—that its influence has pervaded all vocations of the town; that not a single dance has been held; that the bar-keepers are all wearing long faces, and not stopping here, its reviving influence has gone out to the remote precincts of the county.

Spring poems are now in order.

Local news has been quite scarce this week.

Shedlark shawls just received at Anderson's Bazaar.

—Everybody like it? What? That Bonanza Coffee at the Red Front.

—Hartford has been well supplied with drummers for the past week.

—White sewing machine needles and all attachments to be had at Anderson's Bazaar.

—If you are troubled with rheumatism use "Kendall's Spavin Cure." See advertisement.

—Call on Lou Hill when you want a good drink nicely served up. Lou's saloon is a daisy, it is.

—Mr. Griffin has resumed work on the old jail and will soon have it converted into a nice residence.

—Gross Williams wants all the chickens and turkeys in the county, and will pay the highest cash prices.

—New cloths, new casimires, new clothing, and a lot of nice notions at V. P. ADDINGTON'S.

—Gross Williams—Red Front—has a full stock of family groceries and will sell extremely low for cash or country produce.

—George W. Stewart, of Pleasant Ridge vicinity, has rented the farm near Rosine of Edward Otto, and will move to it this week.

—Miss Nannie Morton, of Ceralvo, this county, and Miss Emma Parrish, of Spring Lick, Grayson county, are new pupils of Hartford College.

—Always keep "Kendall's Spavin Cure" in your house. If your druggist will not get it for you send to the proprietors, B. J. Kendall & Co., Enosburg Falls, Vt.

—Nice fresh groceries—the very best kind. These in abundance you always can find.

—At prices as low as ever before at Mrs. Edson's grocery store.

—Mr. R. Marshall, traveling salesman for John T. Stier, dealer in fine cigars and leaf tobaccos in town this week. Mr. Marshall is one of the best salesmen that make periodical visits to this place.

—It is, perhaps, not generally known to ministers that J. Winter & Co., the great merchant tailors and clothiers, corner of Third and Market streets, Louisville, Ky., give them special discount on prices—the so-called "preachers' discount." This firm is plausibly inclined.

—For the benefit of the Breckenridge News and Henderson Reporter we will say that the item we had in this county, in the language of one of Kentucky's brightest journalists, a fellow has a chance for "more of a discount of em." If messes are the item are also.

—Read the advertisement of fashionable dressmaking, Louisville, Ky., by Mrs. Marshall, and when you need work in that line that you cannot get done to suit you at home, send orders to her and rest assured that they will be faithfully carried out.

—The quarterly meeting held here last Saturday and Sunday is being projected. Bro. McDaniel is assisted by Bro. Scudder, presiding elder, and Rev. George Dennis, of Greenville. Rev. B. F. Orr is expected to participate in the meeting in a few days. Good attendance is had and considerable interest manifested.

—Daniel Scarce, Esq., has been promoted from deputy marshal to deputy sheriff, and is assisting C. W. Phillips to settle up the remnant of his business. Those owing taxes had better pay up if they wish to keep their property from becoming Scarce's, as Uncle Daniel proposes to levy every time the money is not paid without it.

—"A friend in need is a friend indeed." You will never receive such clear and unflinching evidence of this as when, after much pain and oft-repeated failures of other medicines to give relief, you turn to Crooke's "Never Fail." Then turn in at once and call upon the agent and get a bottle. For sale by Thomas & Kimbley, Hartford, Ky.

—We are in receipt of the catalogue of Salem College, Garrettsville, Ky., Prof. T. G. Arnold, formerly of this place is one of the teachers in the institution, and we must say that if the other teachers are as thoroughly practical as Prof. Arnold, the college is bound to be a success. Salem College holds out many inducements to pupils prominent among which is the total absence of intoxicating drinks. Not a drop of whiskey can be obtained within five miles of the college.

—The new mail route established from Beaver Dam to Rochester was badly needed, but there has been quite a blunder made in the time of arrival and departure of mails. In going from Beaver Dam to Rochester and return the carrier leaves before the train from Louisville gets down and before the Hartford stage gets out, hence all this mail matter is detained one day at Beaver Dam. The carrier returns to Beaver Dam after the train from Paduch has passed, and all mail matter going East has to lie over at Beaver Dam nearly 24 hours. Nearly all the mail going over the line to Rochester comes down the P. & E. Railroad and from the Hartford stage line, and nearly all the mail coming over the line is bound for the East, and hence a reversal of the order of carrying the mail would accommodate all concerned. Let the mail leave Rochester in the morning and return in the evening, and there is no delay at Beaver Dam at all. Let this change be made at once, it is badly needed and the line then would be an immense benefit to the people along the route. As it is now carried it is of but little advantage. A post office should also be established at a convenient point on the route about equal distance between the terminal points. We are ready to help secure these much desired changes.

—MARRIED.

MADDOX-GENTRY.—At Mrs. Sarah Taylor's, Ohio county, Ky., Feb. 16th, 1881, by Rev. John T. Caschier, Mr. James E. Maddox to Miss Verda Gentry. Much happiness and great success to them.

PERSONAL.

Mr. E. B. Sloan, representing Fischen & Merrill, merchant tailors, Louisville, was here several days last week and took several orders for clothing.

Mr. C. W. Wilhoite, representing the wholesale grocery firm of V. McJohnston & Co., was in town last week. He took quite a number of orders while here.

J. M. Berry returned home last week from the medical university of Nashville. He is looking fine and has gone right into practice. He has had several calls already—some of them very interesting ones. How are you, Dr. John Morgan Berry? Success to you.

F. W. Griffin, Esq., who has been in Elizabethtown for several weeks past, returned yesterday evening.

We had the pleasure of a call yesterday from Revs. J. S. Scudder and Geo. Dennis. They are engaged in the protracted meeting here.

Rescued from Death.

The following is a list of marriage licenses since our last report:

S. G. Grimes and Hester Ashley. G. W. Quinn and Mary E. Brown. W. T. Bolamy and Elvira Royal. C. R. Leach and Mary F. Sanderfur. J. E. Maddox and Verda Gentry. C. E. Raley and Zella Heavrin.

The Fiasco of a Christmas Speech.

Last Christmas night Jeff Watson was assaulted and beaten up with a club. Marion Likens, Solomon Likens and J. C. Renfro were charged with the offense. Justice is slow, and hence the parties are just being tried. The trial began before Judge Newton last Saturday, and he concluded Monday.

Jeff Watson was indicted for assaulting Jeff Watson with intent to kill. Solomon Likens and J. C. Renfro moved for a change of venue, which was granted and their cases are set for trial before P. P. Morgan, police judge of Hartford, to-day.

Claytonian Society.

Proceedings of the Claytonian Society, February 19, 1881. The Society met and was called to order by J. W. Bishop, President, at 6:30 p. m.:

1. Roll call.

2. Reading minutes of last meeting.

ATTENDED RECEPTION OF THE BUTLER HORROR.

A Finnish Act.

One night last week, while the wife of Mr. J. P. Dangley was sitting by the fire awaiting her husband's return from some place whither he had gone on business, she saw something fall into the fire and immediately a large blaze arose. She was at first puzzled to know the cause of this, but hearing a noise outside she knew it came from a scaffold which had been erected for the purpose of replacing some rocks which had fallen from the chimney. She immediately left the fire and went to the back of the room and seized her husband's pistol. The man then got down from the scaffold and tried to force an entrance. While he was trying to break in Dangley came in his wife told him of the affair, and while she was talking he went to sleep by the fire. He slept something near half an hour, after which he awoke under the influence of a strange spell and from being the most kind and considerate husband seemed transformed into a very brute and attempted to kill his wife. She, by various means, tried to pacify him and with the greatest difficulty prevented him from killing her. After the spell wore off they went to bed and slept through the night. The chimney was examined the next morning and a strange-looking substance found, which, on being examined, was found, burned like the stuff of the night before, but they were careful to keep beyond reach of the fumes. There is no doubt that this was an attempt at robbery and perhaps murder, as Dangley was supposed to have money. Many persons think it was the same fiend who perpetrated the Butler county outrage, and that they are still abroad in the land. They should be ferreted out and swung up without mercy.

brightest in her religious walk—in her devotion to the master, and a faith which for more than half a century was undimmed by a single cloud.

She was the life, and such the virtues of one whose place will not be filled in this generation at least.

The pretty mansion is there still—the spring showers will come to call forth the green grass and the beautiful flowers—the honeysuckle and roses will bloom again in that beautiful home, but its real liveliness has departed forever, and the joyous spirit of a fragment of a life so pure will linger there, and the influence of virtues so rare will live for generations to come.

How we sympathize with the dear old man bereft of a companion so pure and good. May God, in his infinite mercy, comfort him in his loneliness; and the joyous spirit of a fragment of a life so pure will linger there, and the influence of virtues so rare will live for generations to come.

Point Pleasant.

J. B. Izelhart raised 2,000 pounds of tobacco from 3,500 plants, which he sold for $5 per hundred pound. Can this be better?

Mr. Ad Brown, of this place, died Saturday, Feb. 19th, of pneumonia. He leaves a wife and one child.

John Cundiff, of this place, died with consumption. He is not expected to live many days.

Point Pleasant.

February 10, 1881.

Editor Herald:

An infant son of Mr. S. W. Tichenor was buried at this place on the 8th inst.

Capt. R. M. Davis has been very low with pneumonia fever for some days, but is now convalescent. Mr. A. W. Brown is also very low with typhoid pneumonia, and is not expected to recover. Messrs. Dan Humphrey and G. W. Patterson are also sick of pneumonia.

The meeting held by Messrs. Bennett and Sharp, at West Point, closed with 45 conversions and 47 additions to the church. More anon.

Poor Sick Yews.

February 13, 1881.

Editor Herald:

Mr. Jas. Wallace's school at Beda closed on the 11th inst. Mr. W. is a good teacher.

Died.—February 11, 1881, of pneumonia fever, a child of Mr. B. P. Holden, of Barnett's creek neighborhood. Also, on the 10th inst., of pneumonia, Mrs. Felix Shafer. Her remains were interred on the farm of Moses Chapman.

Rev. John Ward, a former resident of this county, but of Glasgow, preached to a large audience at Beda to-day. He is engaged in holding a protracted meeting at No Creek, and is meeting with success.

Mr. Walker Johnson, who left for Missouri sometime since, was compelled to stop at Owensboro on account of the ice.

TORCH.

Stewartsville.

February 18, 1881.

Editor Herald:

Having a few scratches from my pen which will not be out of place, I give the following:

Rev. James Davis closed a series of meetings held at New Zion church on Sunday last, resulting in nine additions to the church.

Married.—February 13th, at the residence of the bride's father, Miss Hester A. Ashley to Mr. Sullivan G. Grimes. I do not know what the late patent license was used or not.

Rev. Leonard Gary died on the 7th inst. of pneumonia. Mr. Gary was a successful farmer, a Christian minister, beloved by many, who will mourn his loss. We sympathize with his bereaved family.

Editor Herald:

Thixton & Slaughter have put the finishing touches on their house, formerly occupied by Thixton & Son. Their office is a daisy, and the house is well filled with fine liquors and cigars.

Joe Higdon was here last night, falling from a horse Friday evening. Young Higdon is a cripple and keeps a confectionery stand in the "East End."

The Louisville Evening Post has been in the city, which has never been lighted with gas, now supports coal oil street lamps. Consequently the man who "homeward" plods his weary way at night, and happy.

Mr. George V. Triplett, who is the right man to fill a seat in our Legislature, is now circulating through the country shaking the hands of the hard-fisted yeomen.

Mr. John Harrison, proprietor of the Planter's Tobacco Warehouse, sold sixty-six cases of his fine cigars last week. Prices good. Some White Burgley brought $16.00.

The city election is near at hand and as yet there are no candidates for the various offices. Usually there are quite a number of our worthy citizens who wish to have a finger in the pie.

Mr. John Moorman left on Wednesday for St. Louis, Chicago, St. Paul and other cities. He is traveling in the interest of the Southern Wheel and Handle company, of which company he is a member.

Mr. Dick Graham received quite a severe wound last Tuesday at the spoke factory. Mr. Graham was working at a saw when a piece of plank got caught in the saw and was thrown with great force into his face.

The Monarch & Pottinger Coopering establishment, of this city, is doing a thriving business. They work from 35 to 40 men, in addition to the many hands who get out staves. They turn out from 500 to 600 whiskey barrels per week.

The East End can beat the world for dogs and dog fights. Shoot the canines. The saw mill and lumber men of this place have agreed on a fixed price for lumber, consequently that article has advanced and there is no underselling.

The Louisville Evening Post has been fortunate in securing Mr. W. E. Beers as their Owensboro correspondent. Their selection could not have been better. Nothing in the shape of a spy, newsy item escapes the vigilance of his royal "nibs."

Messrs. Geo. Williams and Bros. McFarland shipped 500 patent washing machines South.

The river is now open and we are not likely to have any more ice this season. Business is booming. Triplett, Bacon & Co. have been making large shipments of whiskey and other freights. They shipped 100 barrels of tallow to Cincinnati and 500 barrels of potatoes to Memphis one day last week. They have big lots of other freight. The river is in two feet of the big rise of 1875.

Mr. Joseph Griffin, in company with several others, left for New Orleans on the great Chas. Morgan Monday.

Mr. Robert S. Triplett, Jr., one of Owensboro's most promising business men, was married Thursday evening at 9 o'clock to Miss Nora Weir, who is one of Owensboro's prettiest and most accomplished ladies. They were accompanied by the golden sons of matrimony by Rev. Hendy, at the residence of the bride's father. The affair was one of the most elegant and brilliant ever consummated in this city. Your correspondent wishes them a long, happy and successful life.

Some of our citizens indulged in a grand masquerade ball on the night of the 19th inst. Financially it was a success, but ended with a fight. Louis Carter, a policeman, disagreed with one Halley about some girl, and to settle the matter, Carter punched Halley in the mouth.

LOOKER ON.

Stray Notice.

Taken up as a stray, by Mrs. P. A. Taylor, living near Cornwell, in Ohio county, Ky., on the 16th day of February, 1881, one small brown mare, 2 years old, white nose, about 12 hands high, having no other marks or brands, and appraised by me at $40.

Given under my hand this 16th day of February, 1881.

Dentistry.

L. Squires, successor to Squires & McGraw, Dentists, of Ohio and Muhlenberg counties, is permanently located at South Carrollton, Ky. I will be at King's Hotel, Hartford, Ky., on the first, second and third days of March, 1881, and on the same days of each month following. Teeth extracted without pain by a new process, using neither gas nor chloroform. Artificial teeth a specialty—all styles and prices. Old plates repaired as good as new. Gold and silver fillings from one dollar up. Parties living at a distance wishing a new set of teeth, by notifying me by mail, or otherwise, at South Carrollton, or at King's Hotel, Hartford, I will go to your houses and extract your teeth. I will do all work at the same price that you can get at Owensboro or Louisville.

Stray Notice.

Taken up as a stray by Jared T. Ashby, living on Grassy Creek, near the Hartford and Point Pleasant road, on the 8th inst., one heifer, aged about two years; red, with some white about her sides and legs, some white in face with short horns, and marked with split in right ear and under-slope in left ear, which I have appraised at eight dollars.

THE IMPORTANCE OF BIRTH

AN ADDRESS BY THE REV. J. H. BARRITT.

In treating of this subject it may be said to be a matter of indifference, the origin of the need of Sabbath schools, though at first sight it may appear irrelevant to the subject before us.

Originally, our race for Adam was a race representative as well as an individual, but as we grew, the entire race, all good, and was in union with him, but by violation of law through our race representative we became lost and alienated from God. The law violated being holy, just and good, a return by law was impossible. But God, in grace, sent His only begotten Son into the world as a second organic headship, that by grace, through faith, might be saved by and in him. Hence, Christ affirms, "I am the way, the truth and the life." "No man cometh unto the Father but by me." Thus, salvation is provided for all, conditioned only on the acceptance of a righteousness provided in another. If this were all, no man would be saved. But God has provided the means and agencies necessary to the accomplishment of the end. Teaching is an indispensable means, and God condescended to be the first teacher. From thenceforth he taught by prophets, types, shadows, etc., all pointing to the Anti-type, "the Lamb of God, that taketh away the sin of the world," the Great Teacher "who hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel." "Go teach all nations," was the command of Christ to His Apostles. As the means and agencies for doing evil multiply, the means and agencies for doing good multiply in the same ratio; God has set the good over against the evil. In the multiplication of means for doing good, the Sabbath School has become a very efficient one. The importance of schools for the instruction of the young is admitted by all; but the importance of Sabbath Schools seems to be ignored, or at least lightly esteemed, even by the great majority of professing Christians. It is no marvel that the unregenerate are blind as to the importance of Sabbath Schools, for they are blind as to their own spiritual condition.

What is the main object of Sabbath Schools? It is not to teach worldly wisdom, but to train the child in a state of nature, and what they must be by grace to inherit the Kingdom of God in a world in which he is to live. But it might be asked, does the Sabbath School accomplish the right intended? We answer, that, according to the Sabbath School reports, wherever they have been properly tested a rich harvest has always sprung or is about to spring. In the last revival at Morgantown the gathering to Christ was chiefly from among the Sabbath School children. When Christ was on earth they brought little children to Him that He might bless them, but His disciples rebuked those that brought them. But when Jesus said, "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not," it was pleasing to Christ for little children to be brought to Him, and displaying to hinder them from coming is not equally so today. If Sabbath Schools be an available means in bringing them to Christ, then I ask professing parents how can we be content not to avail ourselves of the privilege of bringing our children to the Sabbath School to train them for Christ? Their minds must and will be trained, and if we fail to do it the devil will. If we will not sow our own fields who will sow them for us? If we sow sparingly, we shall reap sparingly. It is written, "sow thy seed in the morning and in the evening withhold not thy hand, for thou knowest not which shall prosper, this or that, or whether both alike shall be good." The Saviour tells of a man that sowed good seed in his field, and while men slept an enemy came and sowed tares and went his way. Take notice, it was while men slept that the enemy did this. O, my friends, are we not all asleep on the important subject of Sabbath Schools? Let us awake to our duty and take courage from the Word of God, for it is written, "They that sow in tears shall reap in joy." Again, "He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again, bringing his sheaves with him." Let us then, in the language of the psalmist, "sow in the morning and in the evening, and thy seed shall prosper, thy way shall be called straight, and thy path shall be called peace."

What could give greater joy to Christian parents than to know that their children were safe in the arms of Jesus? Would it not be a source of joy to know they had been instrumental in bringing them there? What of an earthly character, more dear to parents than their children? What should engross their minds so much as their eternal interest? And yet, from the actions of a great majority of us, it appears that we regard this life of much more importance than that which is to endure forever—and that, too, in the face of the injunction, "Seek first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness, with the promise that all necessary blessings shall be added. It appears that we have reversed the order. We spend wearisome days of toil and privation and sleepless nights in study, in order to provide for the earthly wants of our children, and scarcely a thought about their eternal interest, when, if we could look back experience squarely in the face, it would reach that where parents had succeeded in accumulating anything of consequence for their children that in nineteen cases out of twenty, it had ninety-nine in a hundred, it proved a curse instead of a blessing. Parents are the natural guardians of the little immortal jewels that God has entrusted to their care and will be held responsible for the way in which they discharge their trust. Great responsibilities rest upon parents. The weal or woe of their offspring is greatly dependent on the instruction and training given to them. The wise and inspired Saviour said, "From up a child in the way, which he should go, and when it is old he will not depart from it." A young child is naturally confident, and places much confidence in the veracity of its parents and by experience that confidence is destroyed. Parents are frequently unwittingly the first to destroy that confidence. To illustrate: If a child does wrong we tell it if it does so again we will whip it, and fail to do so. If it is sick and we wish it to take medicine with a companion, if it is a medicine taker, we say it is best, and training should begin at a very early age and subordination is the first thing that should be taught. I believe, as a general rule, that the most important period for training has mainly passed before it is generally thought to be time to begin, even in matters pertaining to their spiritual interest.

It is maintained by some of the eminent metaphysicians that the mind is always active. If this be so, the infant mind must necessarily range over a very limited field of thought. It appears that the infant mind at first is circumscribed to exceedingly narrow limits, preparatory to a period when responsibility and obligation shall begin. In this period alone can subordination and truthfulness be successfully implanted in the mind. In this period the foundation principles which will in a great degree govern them in after life are mainly established. The first step being taken in the right direction the desired end will be the easier gained.

By the use of the words "infant" or "infancy" in this connection I mean the period prior to accountability. After the period of infancy comes that of youth, or accountability, each period having its adaptation and peculiarity. In the period of youth the child under the guardianship of parents, freed from the cares and responsibilities of providing for life, making it a period pre-eminently and peculiarly adapted to instrumentally bringing them to Christ for life. This is the period in which Solomon announces a wise young man to meet God. He says, "Remember now thy creator in the days of thy youth," while the mind is young and tender, susceptible of tender emotion, not hardened by habitual sinning—before the evil days come, and the years draw nigh to which thou shalt say, "I have no pleasure in them." This indicates a period in human life, in which the youth is unacquainted with, as some of us who are more advanced in life can attest.

After the period of youth comes that of maturity, or manhood, in which the responsibilities of life begin in earnest. They have been thought of before, but now they are pressed with force upon the mind. From this time their responsibilities and obligations increase, and a return to God becomes more difficult and the probabilities less. How important, then, that in the period of youth parents should look diligently to the spiritual interest of their children; and how can this be as successfully done as in the Sabbath School?

But, there comes another period, different from all others. It is a period of affliction and trouble—a period when the years draw nigh in which thou shalt say, "I have no pleasure in them."—a period when the afflictions of earth will press down as a cart loaded with many sheaves. I ask, is this a suitable period to divest the mind of all earthly things, and to start out in the dark to seek God? Will not the mind necessarily be occupied with the afflictions which are pressing them down in both body and mind? Remember, it requires all the faculties of the mind and all strength, and that, too, aided by divine grace to approach God acceptably. But on the other hand if afflictions come, one after another, as they did upon Job, or if they come all at once upon the child of God, even to the rending asunder of the most tender and sacred ties of earth, when the last ray of hope of an earthly character has faded away; then O, how sweet, how ineffably sweet, to be filled with the peace and joy which Jesus gives! It is in the language of the poet,

"A hand for every wound
A hand for every fear."
And, as another has said,
"Earth hath no sorrows
That heaven cannot cure."
The religion of Jesus cannot eradicate troubles from the mind, but it can more than compensate for them all, even while the child of God is under affliction, thus establishing rest.

I would ask, in view of the obligations we are under to Christ, who hath redeemed us with His blood, in view of the obligations we are under to our neighbor and neighbor's children, how can we refrain from working diligently and faithfully in the Sabbath School?

By virtue of taxes due the Sheriff of Ohio county, Ky., for the years 1879 and 1880, I, one of my deputies, will on Monday, March 7th, 1880, at the Courtroom door in Hartford, Ky., offer to the following lots and tracts of land lying in Ohio county, Ky., on which taxes are due and unpaid.

Terms of sale—cash in hand. The purchaser is entitled to thirty per cent. interest on his money, and owed to the land if not redeemed in two years. The amount of taxes due as set out in each list includes levy, and costs of advertising, which increases the amount considerably.
